1. What cookies are

Cookies are small text files that a website stores on your device. Websites can also use your browser's local storage for similar purposes. The law covers both, so this policy covers both, and we call them all "cookies" here.

Some cookies are strictly necessary for a website to work or to provide something you have asked for. These do not need your consent. All other cookies, including analytics cookies, are only used if you agree.

2. What we use

This is everything our website stores on your device. We do not use advertising, marketing or social media tracking cookies.

Name	Type	Purpose	How long	Consent needed
cookie_consent cookie_consent_version cookiePreferences analytics_consent marketing_consent	Local storage	Remembers your cookie choice so we don't ask on every page. We don't use marketing cookies, so marketing_consent is always false.	Until you clear your browser data	No, strictly necessary
dm-theme	Local storage	Remembers light or dark mode, if you choose one	Until you clear your browser data	No, asked for it start_project_draft	Local storage	Saves your answers on the Start Your Project form so you don't lose them. They stay on your device until you submit the form.	Until you submit the form or clear your browser data	No, asked for it
_ga	Cookie (Google Analytics)	Distinguishes one visitor from another, for statistics	2 years	Yes

Name	Type	Purpose	How long	Con ne
<code>_ga_<ID></code>	Cookie (Google Analytics)	Keeps track of your visit (session) for statistics	2 years	Yes

3. Google Analytics

If you accept analytics cookies, we use Google Analytics to understand how people use our website. This tells us which pages are visited, how people move between them, where visitors came from, and how quickly pages load. Google receives the pages you view, your interactions, your device and browser type, and an approximate location that it estimates from your IP address. Google does not store the IP address in Google Analytics.

We use this information only for statistics about our website. We do not use it for advertising or to identify you, and Google Analytics keeps it for 14 months. Google may process data in the United States; our Privacy Policy explains how such transfers are protected. See how Google uses information from sites that use its services.

Google Analytics does not load until you accept. If you later turn it off, we stop sending data and delete the Google Analytics cookies from your browser.

4. Manage your cookie settings

You can change your choice at any time. It applies to this browser on this device.

5. Browser controls

You can also block or delete cookies in your browser settings. Blocking all cookies and site data may stop parts of our website, such as saved form drafts, from working.

- Mozilla Firefox
- Safari
- Microsoft Edge

Google also offers a browser add-on to opt out of Google Analytics on every website.

6. Do Not Track

Analytics stays off unless you accept it, so we do not track you by default. Beyond that, our website does not respond to Do Not Track or Global Privacy Control browser signals.

7. Changes to this policy

We will update this policy if the cookies we use change. When the change affects what you consented to, we will ask for your choice again.
